The Master's Message – December

My Brothers,

I am deeply humbled and honored by the trust you have placed in me when electing me as Worshipful Master. I have stood behind a lot of you Past Masters as you took this role before me and I hope the years of experience in working with our rich heritage of past masters has endowed me with wisdom to serve this lodge well.

Over 17 years as a Mason, I still remember why I joined our fraternity. It was that time in my life that I knew as a man; I wanted to be something better. I wanted to serve mankind, and Masonry attracted me with this simple phrase that I will always remember: Take a good man and make him better. Our Lodge is loaded with good men, men I am proud to call Brother.

This will be a year of change. The tenants of Free Masonry need to be rekindled. The Lodge needs to prepare our Brethren for the job ahead, the responsibility they obligated to perform when they became Master Masons.

In this endeavor this year, my term will embrace a theme. This theme will rule and guide our year of work, and allow us to put down designs on our trestle board for the future.

This year's theme will be the 4-R's

We will re-obligate. We will remind ourselves why we became Masons, which was to serve mankind.

We will re-commit. We will work hard this year to build the Lodge into that beautiful edifice.

We will re-educate. Our goal this year will be to work hard together and to be a teacher and also a student.

We will lastly re-energize. By renewing our commitment by deepening our knowledge of what it means to a mason, we will re-energize each other.

I believe by working hard together, we can make everyone who doesn't know what it is to a mason, understand, and then their question becomes not "What is a Mason", but "How do I become a Mason"

Guys, we are changing it up this year. We will adhere to the principals and traditions that our Lodge and what Free Masonry has always stood for, but we will move in a directed, positive direction. You will be asked this year to step out of your comfort zone and become that better man. This year, just showing up won't cut it. The Lodge needs you involved. This is the year you become active, energized and transformed.

This year, you will better understand and be proud that you are a Mason!

God Bless,

Kirk Poser
Worshipful Master Elect
